You work as an assistant for a housing development company in Michigan, USA. The management wants to advertise a new housing project called Active Green Living. The project offers green housing for both young people and retired people. You have been asked to write the text for the leaflet to convince potential residents to move in.

In your leaflet you should:

- highlight the facilities Active Green Living offers
- emphasize the advantages of intergenerational living
- argue why green living is the future

Divide your leaflet into sections and give them headings. Write around 250 words.
